TERRIBLE EARTHQUAKES.

Many Thousands of Lives and Millions of Property Destroyed.

CITIES ON THE SOUTH AMERICAN COAST SWEPT AWAY.

Two U. S. War Vessels Destroyed.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, September 12, 1868.

The steamer Guiding Star, from Aspinwall, brings the Evening Telegram the following:

On the 13th of August a terrible earthquake visited the cities along the coast of Peru and Ecuador, whereby thirty-two thousand lives were lost, and property valued at three hundred millions of dollars was destroyed. A rumbling sound preceded the earthquake, and the sea was terribly agitated and flooded the land for a great distance.

Arequipa, a city of 35,000 inhabitants, passed away; scarcely a vestige was left. Only four hundred lives were lost here.

Arica, a town of 25,000 inhabitants, was also destroyed, leaving not a house standing; five hundred perished here.

Tidal waves forty feet high rolled with terrific roar on the shore, carrying ships farther on land than was ever before known. The United States steamship Fredonia capsized and all on board were lost. The Fredonia had a million eight hundred thousand dollars worth of naval stores on board. The vessel was rolled over and smashed to atoms. The United States steamer Wateree was carried a half mile inland and left high and dry. Only one sailor was drowned. Owing to the great distance the steamer never can get afloat again. The Peruvian corvette, America, was also carried ashore, and thirty-three drowned from her. The American merchantman Rosa Rivera, the English ship Chancellor, and the French bark Edwards were also lost.

The towns of Iquaque, Moquega, Lerumba, and Pisagua, were all utterly destroyed. Over six hundred persons were lost at Iquique.

The towns of Igarra, San Pablo, Atuntogui and Imantad are in ruins. Where Cotacachie formerly stood is now a lake. The population of the above named towns is almost entirely destroyed. Pamcho, Puellars and Cachiquania are also destroyed.

The dead are so numerous that the surviving inhabitants are forced to fly from the stench of the putrefying bodies.

In Guayquil the earthquake was felt, but no damage done.

Letters from Quito dated the 19th announce that earthquakes continue at intervals of a few hours.

The President has issued a proclamation to the people to come forward and help the sufferers.

HAVANA, CUBA, Sept. 12, 1868.

Advices have been received here announcing that Peru and Equador have been visited with the most terrible earthquake ever known. The shocks occurred on the 16th of August and lasted only five minutes. In that short time twenty-five thousand perished and thirty thousand were made houseless. The sea rose forty feet and swept the coast with irresistible fury. The citizens of Arequipa, Ibuique, Tehalia and Chueua have been utterly destroyed.

The loss of property between Tacnil and Arica is estimated at fourteen millions of dollars. The United States steamer Kersarge was rendering assistance to the sufferers.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

NEW YORK, September 13.—Letters from Lima, Peru, give additional details of the earthquake and its effects. The earthquake commenced at half-past five on the thirteenth of August, extending from Bolivia to southern parts of Chili on the coast and over one hundred miles inland. The towns and cities mentioned in the dispatches of last night were literally ruined, as all the buildings which were not destroyed were so badly damaged as to require demolition for prudential reasons. All public edifices in Arica were destroyed, including the Custom House, which contained more than four million dollars worth of goods, all of which are lost.

The loss of the Fredonia and landing of the Wateree are described as follows: They were both at anchor in the harbor of Arica, near each other. After the final shock had occurred on land, which created great consternation on both vessels, Dr. Dubois, Surgeon, and Paymaster of the Fredonia, took a boat and went on shore to inquire for the welfare of their friends and offered the services of the ship. In a few moments after leaving the vessel a great upheaving of the waters of the bay commenced, and the Fredonia parting her chains was dashed about at the mercy of the sea, and finall dashed to pieces on the reef. Nothing of the vessel was saved. Her officers and crew of twenty-seven were lost, also Mrs. Dyer, wife of the Lieutenant commanding. The officers' names are Lieut. B. Dyer, D. Organ, Master; J. G. Cromwell, Purser; S. Tunt, Secretary to Commander. The vessel had nearly five million dollars' worth of naval stores on board, all totally lost.

The Wateree was more securely anchored, but dragged her anchors and the great tidal wave swept her four hundred and fifty yards inland, about two miles north of the ruined town. She now lies between two hillocks of sand very slightly injured, but it will be utterly impossible to extricate her, and Admiral Turner is only hopeful of saving her battery and stores. Only one sailor was washed overboard and drowned.

Lieut. Johnson, of the Wateree, was ashore at the time, and while carrying his wife in his arms to some place of safety she was struck by a portion of a falling building and killed.

The Peruvian corvette, America, shared the same fate as the Wateree, but lost three officers and thirty men.

Commander Gillis of the Wateree, after the disaster, together with Dr. Window and Dr. Dubois, were of great service to the inhabitants, dividing their provisions among them and saving many lives by medical and surgical skill.

A letter from Arica, dated August 22d, says two other vessels, the brig Chaucaricolo and bark Edwards are also high and dry, the former losing eight men.

The scene beggars description. Railroad rails, cars, machinery, gun carriages, household furniture, barrels, dead animals and mutilated corpses are lying about in confusion. The city numbered seven thousand inhabitants and its multitudes stand helplessly beggared on the beach. Three hundred lives were lost. A conflagration burned nearly all that was not demolished by the earthquake, and a drunken rabble robbed and despoiled what remained. Heavy cannon were carried up from the island battery and now lay buried in sand on shore. The stench is sickening.

At Lima there was not much damage done, although the shocks lasted about four minutes, creating the utmost consternation, the inhabitants fleeing to open places where they sought protection from the Almighty.

Admiral Turner, with the frigate Powhattan, left Lima with a full cargo of provisions and had arrived at Arica to succor American seamen and inhabitants. She will also save the effects of the Wateree.

The Kearsarge had reached Arica from Coquimba with provisions. Two French men-of-war also left Lima to aid the inhabitants at Arica and other places on the Coast who are starving.

American Minister Hovey, at Lima, was energetically aiding to the extent of his power. The merchants and citizens of Lima are contributing thousands of dollars to equip and load vessels with clothing, provisions, &c., and the government is most energetically using all its means to alieniate the distress entailed by the horrible catastrophe.

The Congress of Peru unanimously passed a resolution giving the President unlimited power to succor the inhabitants of the southern coast. The President has issued a proclamation, and the Arch-Bishop a pastoral, calling on the Peruvians for liberal contributions, which have been nobly responded to. Over one million dollars have been raised. The business houses of Timahaning having connections on the coast suffered immensely, one house, that of Gibbs & Son, losing over a million dollars.

Nearly all the towns and villages in the mineral provinces of Huanac were destroyed and reduced to shapeless masses. The cities of Pueno and Cusco, however, were not damaged. The port of Mallendo, where were stored materials for building the Meiggs railway, was completely destroyed, nearly all the tools, rails, and provisions being ruined by the earthquake and succeeding tidal wave.

At Callao the sea burst over the line of houses skirting the shore at ten o'clock at night on the 13th, completely gutting them of their contents. The panic was extreme. Four vessels collided, but no damage was then done, nearly all putting to sea. Next morning a fire broke out and fifty-seven houses in the business portion were destroyed, entailing a loss of a million and a half of dollars. No lives lost.

The Chincha Islands felt the earthquake and wave, but not seriously as yet known.

The cities of Icla and Pisco also suffered heavily, forty houses being overthrown and twelve lives lost. All of the former.

Nearly all the population of Callao fled to Lima.

The steamer Santiago, bound from Callao to Valparaiso, put into the port of Challa, where on the 13th, she was seized by the great wave, her chains snapped and the vessel carried to sea. In a few moments the wave returned toward the shore, carrying the steamer with it and taking it with all the passengers safely over a high cliff and leaving it inside of the channel port of Challa completely covered by water.

At Iquaque the shock lasted over four minutes, after which the wave came and destroyed about three-quarters of the place with many lives, and nearly all the provisions and condensing machinery which supplied the inhabitants with drinking water. Provisions and water have been sent them from Valparaiso. One German house at Iqaque lost over $400,000 worth of property. Over six hundred people were drowned.

At Aquippa the earthquake commenced at a few minutes past five in the afternoon and in three minutes nearly every house was leveled to the ground. The tower of Santa Catalina Church was the only thing left standing, and that will have to be pulled down. Nearly all the inmates of the prisons and hospitals perished in the destruction of those buildings. The shocks continued at intervals, nearly one hundred having occurred in three days.

The city is one mass of complete ruin. The river has changed to three colors, showing volcanic eruptions, and Mount Misti was actively throwing out lava, smoke and quantities of mud. The river emits a sulphurous odor, and rocks are constantly falling from the mountain crater. No one dares to go where the city was, the people living in tents on the banks of the river.

At Paucaripata hundreds of lives were lost by being crushed to death by falling houses when the earthquake occurred.

From Guayquil, under date of August 26th, we have brief accounts of the earthquake in Ecuador. In the city of Guayquil but little damage was done. The towns of Ibarra, the capital of the province of San Pablo, Ainaqui and Imantid are in ruins, and a lake of water is now occupying the site of the town of Catacachi. The entire population of these towns, and of Otovalo, perished, amounting to nearly three hundred thousand souls. At Quito the earthquake commenced at twenty minutes of one o'clock, on the morning of August 16th, and continued at intervals of a few hours, up to last dates. Eighteen churches and public buildings and private dwellings are already in ruins and the people were living in tents in the great squares. The towns adjoining, Quito, Peruch, Puellaro and Cachiquargo have almost entirely disappeared with their inhabitants, the few left alive being obliged to flee to escape the pestilence arising from the decomposing dead. The town of Puncho and San Antonio have also disappeared. The number of deaths in the city of Quito is not known, but a large proportion of the wealthy inhabitants had died from pestilence or disaster.

A Valparaiso dispatch of August 17th says advices had been received from Talcuhans, which states that at nine o'clock on the night of the 14th of August three earthquakes occurred. The second caused an immense tidal wave, which swept away fully one-half of the town, and rendered the other half almost uninhabitable. Only our lives were lost, the inhabitants fleeing to the hills. At Tome the same occurred, but being higher little damage was done. The port of Consticuen suffered from the waves, but was not much damaged. Several small vessels were driven ashore and five men drowned. The town of Concepcion was also damaged by the same causes. Cobiga, the Mexillones Islands, Pisagua, and all the cities and towns in fact from Cape Francisco in Ecuador to the Magellan Straits, suffered more or less from the terrible visitation.

It was thought at Quito that the volcano at Cotapaxi was at work, but nothing definite is stated to that effect.

Further of the South American Horror.

Other accounts state that an American bark, laden with a cargo of guano, name unknown, was swallowed up completely in the harbor of Arica, and nothing more was seen of her. Terror, hunger and desolation reign. Where Arica once was not even a tree is left. The town of Moquega, nine leagues from Arequippa, was destroyed. Tacua, in the same neighborhood, lost sixty houses and one hundred and fifty lives, mostly children, who were returning from school. The town of Mejia was swept away, only twenty out of five hundred inhabitants escaping. The earth has opened in several places on the plains and pampas and water has appeared. In some places hot water is vomiting from the new chasms. All the habitations at Tilo were destroyed and twenty lives lost. Three vessels with their crews were also lost. All the Nitrate Works at Iquaque were destroyed, as well as those in its suburbs, entailing a great loss. Among those killed at Iquaque was British Consul Billinghurst. The American barque Condor was lost at Mejillon, but the crew was saved. The British barque Henrietta was also lost; crew saved. The losses at Iquaque were over two millions.

At Chincha Islands there was first a hurricane, next an earthquake and then the tidal wave. Several English vessels were damaged and a Prussian bark wrecked.

Four hundred tons of silver ore and all the expensive works of the Peruvian Mineral Company, owned in London, were completely swept away at Iquaque.

The towns of Caneto, Chamsay, Capana, Charpa, Cahacera, and other smaller places, were also destroyed.

The port of Los Lomas has been united to islands in the bay of Callao by the action of the earthquake.

Over 300,000 persons are without shelter and bread. Commissions are being formed, ladies are making clothes and the government of Peru is straining its utmost to alleviate the distress.

General Kilpatrick left for home on the 17th of August.

NEW ORLEANS.

A Great Political Demonstration—Apprehended Trouble—Troops Under Arms—All Peaceable so Far.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW ORLEANS, September 12.—There is intense excitement here to-day over the proposed Republican procession. The Governor will apply to Gen. Buchanan for such disposition of troops as may be necessary to preserve order.

Gen. Hatch has issued the following:

"FREEDMEN'S BUREAU, New Orleans, September 11.—There will be a large torchlight procession here to-morrow night, in which many colored men will participate. Intense excitement exists, which forces me to request the General Commanding to be instructed to dispose of the troops so as to prevent an assault, which may result in wide-spread and general destruction of life and property."

There will be an immense turn out of colored men, who are arriving in crowds from the interior. They are enthusiastic and determined, and in case of outrage it is feardd they will inflict terrible retribution.

LATER, 9 P. M.—Notwithstanding the reports of a further postponement the Republican demonstration is in progress here. Everything is quiet and orderly thus far. Three companies of infantry are stationed at the Custom House, and other troops are disposed in different parts of the city. A strong body of police are also accompanying the procession. The procession was one hour passing a given point. There were three white clubs only in the procession, numbering less than three hundred, all told. There was but a thin sprinkling of whites in the rest of the procession. The prominent feature of the procession was a wagon containing negro women dressed in white, decorated with flowers, representing the States. The following are specimens of the inscriptions on the transparencies: "Tammany Hall—the Hall of Traitors." "Remember Lincoln." "Men Enough have been Murdered." "Seymour Means Slavery" "No Compromise with Rebels." "Let us have Peace."

Strong delegations from the neighboring parishes are participating. All the saloons were closed at an early hour in compliance with the proclamation of the Mayor. The whites generally remained at their houses and there were comparatively few on the streets.

Considerable apprehension is felt of a disturbance this evening. All the small fire arms on sale in the retail stores were bought up to-day. There was but little music in the procession. The streets along the line were remarkably silent. The Democratic clubs universally agreed to remain away from their club rooms and off the streets.

The Republican torchlight procession last night continued quiet throughout and was dismissed at a late hour in good order. There were between five and six thousand persons in the line. A considerable force of military occupied the streets in the vicinity, but not directly on the route of procession. Their presence was due to orders from Washington, though no apparent necessity existed. There was considerable cheering. The Democratic journals commend them for their general orderly behavior. The white element was very scantily represented, probably not numbering over five hundred.

THE LEGISLATURE.

There was no quorum in either house of the legislature yesterday and an adjournment was made until Monday.

The Metropolitan Police bill having finally passed will probably receive the Governor's signature and become a law to-morrow.

The Maine Election.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PORTLAND, Me., September 13.—The political excitement culminated last night in two grand torch light processions, each composed of uniformed campanies with cavalry escorts. The Democrats held an out door meeting in Market Square and the Republicans held a meeting in City Hall. Each were addressed by able speakers and the enthusiasm was great on both sides; but everything was orderly. The processions passed each other on the streets without the least disturbance. A heavier vote is anticipated to-morrow than has ever been thrown in the State. The largest vote was in 1860, being Republican 70,030; Democratic, 52,350; Straight, Whig, 1,735; scattering, twenty; total, 124,135.

The President Will Sustain Civil Authorities in Tennessee—The Indian War—Court of Inquiry—Surratt—Another Supervisor Appointed.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12, 1868.

TENNESSEE AFFAIRS.

The Committee of the Tennessee Legislature took final leave of the President to-day, and forthwith telegraphed to that body that the President will sustain the civil authorities, and an order has been issued to the Department Commander, Gen. Thomas, to sustain and aid the civil authorities. Also, that a sufficient force will be furnished to accomplish that purpose. This is nearly in accordance with the orders heretofore issued for the government of Gens. Meade, Thomas and Buchanan. The Committee, however, are satisfied with the result of their mission. Reporters were excluded to-day, as yesterday, from the interview. Following is a telegram sent this afternoon by a Committee of the Tennessee Legislature to the Speakers of the House and Senate of Tennessee, and also to Gov. Brownlow:

"Washington, September 12, 1868.—Mission accomplished. President will sustain civil authority. Orders have been issued to the Department Commanders to sustain and aid the civil authorities, and sufficient force will be furnished to accomplish such purposes."

The Committtee received this afternoon from the Secretary of War a reply to the letter addressed to him by the Committee, together with a copy of the orders sent to General Thomas.

THE INDIAN WAR.

General Sherman has called upon the Secretary of War to furnish him with an additional regiment of cavalry for service against the Indians. It is rumored that the 5th regiment of cavalry, commanded by Gen. Emory, has been ordered to report to him for that purpose. Owing to the scattered condition of the regiment it will proceed to Omaha by companies. The company stationed here will leave in a few days. Two companies stationed at Jackson will not be relieved for the present. This call for cavalry on the part of Gen. Sherman is regarded as proof of his earnestness in prosecuting the Indian war with great vigor.

The Acting Commissioner of Indian Affairs has received official dispatches from Montana, representing that the Indians are all peaceable. No disturbances had occurred during August among the Indians within the Salt Lake Superintendency. They promise to abstain from further depredations on the whites.

INDIANAPOLIS.

Man and Wife Murdered—No Clue to the Murderer.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

INDIANAPOLIS, September 13.—A double murder was committed in the woods about three miles North-West of this city yesterday afternoon. A man named Jacob Young and his wife left town some time during the afternoon in a buggy, and were found murdered in an out of the way place this morning. Mr. Young was shot in the head with a shot gun, the whole side of his face being torn off. Mrs. Young was shot through the head with a pistol, her clothes set on fire and her body partially burned. The whole affair is as yet shrouded in mystery, and the evidence before the Coroner's jury gives no clue to the perpetrators of the foul deed. Mr. Young was known to have had a large amount of money, variously reported from two to seven thousand dollars, in his possession yesterday morning, and only ten dollars were found on his person this morning. His horse and buggy and a shot gun were found near the bodies.

FROM EUROPE.

Peace or War Question—Rumors—Alliance Between France and Spain—Napoleon at Camp Chalons.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ENGLAND.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—It is generally considered that the events of the last fortnight have made little change in the political condition on the Continent, either to lessen or increase the chances of war. While on the one hand the press of Germany have assumed a quieter tone and profess to be more confident of peace, on the other hand it is known that France has refused a formal demand made by Chevalier Nigra, the Italian Ambassador, for the recall of the French troops from Rome, and at the same time Prince Girgent has brought to Paris the proposal of Spain to cement an alliance with France by sending 30,000 soldiers to Rome. This proposition, and the approaching interview which is shortly to take place at Bayonne between Emperor Napoleon and the Queen of Spain, are looked upon as foreshadowing an alliance, the object of which is to rid France of the care of the Holy See, in case she should be plunged into war, so that by this means France, if without any other ally, could make Spain useful. There are rumors, too, that several fighting regiments have been recalled from Africa, that General Leboufe has been sent on a special mission to Germany, and that Prussia has determined to annex the Grand Duchy of Baden, added to the feeling of distrust in the permanence of the existing peace. This feeling is faithfully mirrored in Paris by the depression on the Bourse, and the consequent decline of rentes. In diplomatic circles here the situation is pithily summed up in these words: No fear of war, though it may begin to-morrow.

Return of the Firemen from Ohio.

The Neptune, Niagara and Relief Fire companies returned from Sandusky, on Saturday, where they were attending an Ohio State Firemen's tournament. A report is current that the Neptune boys were engaged in a "riot" at Sandusky and that they "cleaned out the town in a muscular way," and moreover that the Sheriff of the town had to "read to them the riot act" before order was restored. This is a gross slander, as no such occurrence took place. The Neptune members, like their fellow firemen from this city, conducted themselves in a manner calculated to reflect credit to themselves and the department at home. They were, as a body, engaged in no street fight or exhibition of rowdyism, but conducted themselves in a gentlemanly and orderly manner, making many friends and winning, with the Relief and Niagara, deserved plaudits from the press of Sandusky. From our own view, without hearing our own representatives complain, we must say that the firemen and citizens of Sandusky in their treatment of their visitors exhibited a sorry lack of hospitality. Our boys paid their way to and from there for selves and engine, paid hotel bills, and their way into ball rooms where dances were given in their honor! The Neptune competed for the prize for first-class steam engine and were refused the premium of $100, although throwing much further than any rival. The Judges held over his decision, but as he would not award the proper measurement, 236 feet to the Neptune, owing to the fact that the steam blew over the paper line, wetting the soil beyond, and did award 223 feet to an Ohio company, it is probable the final decision will go that way through State pride. The Neptune boys, however, brought home a magnificent silver horn as a prize. Of the heroic conduct of the Relief fire company at a destructive fire in Cleveland on Friday the Herald of that city says: "The Relief Fire Company of Pittsburgh, on its way home from Sandusky, turned out with the true fireman's instinct and generosity, and worked vigorously, shoulder to shoulder with the Cleveland firemen.""

THE NATION'S DEAD.

[The following beautiful poem was called for by a correspondent in a late number of our paper. It appeared originally in the Round Table.—EDITOR BOYS IN BLUE.]

Four hundred thousand men—
The brave, the good, the true—
In tangled wood, in mountain glen,
On battle plain, in prison pen,
Lie dead for me and you!
Four hundred thousand of the brave
Have made our ransomed soil their grave
For me and you!
Good friends, for me and you!

In many a fevered swamp,
By many a black bayou,
In many a cold and frozen camp
The weary sentinel ceased his tramp,
And died for me and you!
From Western plain to ocean tide
Are stretched the graves of those who died
For me and you!
Good friends, for me and you!

On many a bloody plain
Their ready swords they drew
And poured their life-blood, like the rain.
A home, a heritage to gain—
To gain for me and you!
Our brothers mustered by our side,
They marched, and fought, and bravely died,
For me and you!
Good friends, for me and you!

Up many a fortress wall
They charged—those Boys in Blue—
'Mid surging smoke and volley'd ball,
The bravest were the first to fall!
To fall for me and you!
Those noble men—the nation's pride—
Four hundred thousand men have died
For me and you!
Good friends, for me and you!

In treason's prison hold
Their martyr spirits grew
To stature like the saints of old,
While 'mid agonies untold
They starved for me and you!
The good, the patient, and the tried,
Four hundred thousand men have died
For me and you!
Good friends, for me and you!

A debt we ne'er can pay
To them is justly due,
And to the nation's latest day,
Our children's children still shall say,
"They died for me and you!"
Four hundred thousand of the brave
Made this our ransomed soil their grave,
For me and you!
Good friends, for me and you!

—Cleveland employs three policemen constantly to watch that the oil refiners do not violate the ordinance against discharging refuse in the river. —An advertising people are always the most successful and always thrifty. The enterprise and energy that prompt them to push forward in the race, and keep themselves and their business before the eyes of the world is the best assurance against failure. It would be difficult to point to many instances of great success in trade that have not been won through the advertising columns of the daily press. Look at Chicago and New York, they have been laughed at for their constant blowing on their own trumpets, for their persistent self-glorification or advertising, and yet see what they are. The greatest cities of the East and West and the most promising of prosperity.

Rivers and Weather.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 12.—River rising with seven feet six inches in the canal by mark. Weather warm and showery.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12.—Heavy rain this afternoon.

RIVER NEWS.

The river fell some two or three inches during Saturday night, but was at a stand nearly all day yesterday with seven feet in the channel by the Monongahela marks. On Saturday the Allegheny was reported falling at Oil City, but as there has been considerable rain since then we still entertain hopes of a good rise in that stream. It was reported yesterday that more water was coming out of the Monongahela, we presume. The weather continues cloudy and sultry, with frequent showers of rain.

The Bayard, from Parkersburg, and Robt. Moore, from Portsmouth, have arrived since our last report, and the J. N. McCullough, from Cincinnati, is due here to-day.

Quite a number of towboats have arrived, and many have departed again with tows of coal. It was supposed on Saturday that about a million and a half bushels would be sent out on the present water, mainly destined for Cincinnati and Louisville.

The Armadillo, Capt. D. H. Swaney, is filling up steadily, and will soon be ready to take her departure for St. Louis and Missouri.

The Bayard, Capt. A. S. Shepard, is the regular packet for Parkersburg to-day, leaving promptly at noon. We may here remark that the Bayard has been thoroughly repaired and is in excellent condition for business.

The J. N. McCullough, Capt. George D. Moore, is announced to leave for Cincinnati to-morrow at noon. The McCullough is the finest steamer that now comes to this port, and she is, and deservedly, too, very popular in the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati packet trade.

—The Bellevernon was to have left St. Louis for Pittsbugh on Thursday.

—The New York was advertised to leave Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Saturday.

—The Emma No. 3, en route from New Orleans, passed Memphis on Wednesday last.

—The towboat Alps was to have left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Friday with a tow of empty barges.

—Deputy United States Marshal J. E. Richardson has taken charge of the D. M. Seckler, at Gallipolis.

—The J. N. McCullough was again compelled to lie over at Cincinnati on Tuesday in consequence of the rain.

—Capt. Barney Martin left Cincinnati by rail on Thursday for St. Louis, where he will at once load the Maggie Hays for Pittsburgh.

—The Talisman has been chartered to carry a load of people from Nashville to St. Louis, to attend the Agricultural Fair.

—The Camelia arrived at Cincinnati on Thursday evening and it was expected that she would leave there the same night for St. Louis.

—The J. N. McCullough and R. C. Gray left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Friday. The McCullough had 200 tons pig iron and blooms, and 100 tons sundries.

—Capt. F. Y. Batchelor received a dispatch at Cincinnati, Wednesday evening, informing him that he had been appointed General Storekeeper for the Second District of Ohio.

—The Robt. Moore was sold on Saturday at Cincinnati to Capt. James S. Wise, for $8,000. She will take the place of the Pine Grove, recently burned in the Cincinnati and Nashville trade

—It is reported that Mr. Smedley, of Paducah, has sold his one-half interest in the Fanny Brandeis to Commodore Hughes, of Nashville, for $5,000. The other half interest in the boat is owned by Capt. H. Miller, her commander.

—The Kentucky River Navigation Company have bought the steamer Lady Grace of Capt. W. C. Watts and E. Blackmore for $7,500. The latter parties bought her here last spring, at Marshal's sale, for $3,000, and have since put but slight repairs on her.

—It is said that the Delaware river is to be bridged at Philadelphia, by an arch, in three spans, each one a thousand feet long, the whole structure being nearly four thousand feet in length. There will be two draws, formed in the shape of a fork, and four hundred feet apart. The entire cost of the structure will be $2,000,000.

—Capt. John Tobin has "swapped" the magnificent steamer Frank Pargoud to the Vicksburg and New Orleans Packet Company for the steamer Gov. H. W. Allen, each getting the best of the bargain, for each had a boat that was not adapted to the trade in which she was engaged. It is not to be supposed, however, that the "trade" was even.

—The Vicksburg Times, says: In the cases of the United States vs. steamers Gov. Allen, Virginia, Messenger, P. W. Straders Louisiana and a number of other boats, for carrying cotton uncovered judgment, against the boats so offending were rendered by Judge Hill, at the June term of his Court, in Jackson. The fine is $100 for each charge, and some of the boats have several charges against them. Some rascal at Natchez was the informer, and he gets one-half of the fine collected. We will give the fellow's name as soon as we can procure it. He ought to be be known, especially by steamboatmen.

GOLD closed in New York on Saturday at 144¼@144⅛.

THE name of WATSON P. MAGILL, elector on the Republican ticket of the Vth Pennsylvania District, is erroneously printed McGILL by some of our exchanges.

A LETTER from Mr. W. C. THRASHER, of Parkman, Ohio, declares that the report of the existence of any epedimic diseases among the cattle of that region, to be absolutely unfounded.

THE OPPOSITION manifests its usual audacity of assurance in claiming a triumph at the recent election in Colorado. The fact is that the majority for BRADFORD (Rep.) for delegate is estimated at from 800 to 1,000, the largest ever given in a party contest.

THE Republicans of Bradford county have re-nominated CHAMBERLAIN and WEBB for a third term of service in the Legislature.

The Senatorial Conference in the Bradford district was held on Friday, without result. The contest is a triangular one between LANDON, OSTERHOUT and JESSUP.

THE Democrats of Wayne and Pike counties have nominated the Rev. W. M. NELSON for Representative. He has been out of the Legislature the last two years, but was in the preceding four years. The Republicans of the same counties have named as his competitor the Rev. J. K. PECK, Presiding Elder of the District, and Mr. NELSON's superior, ecclesiastically and otherwise.

MR. THERON E. STRONG is the Republican candidate for Congress in the 12th district, in opposition to Mr. G. W. WOODWARD. He has fine capabilities and attainments; was originally a Democrat, but joined in the Republican movement in 1860; was the Republican Elector for President and Vice President for the 12th district in 1864; and is cousin to Judge STRONG of the Supreme Court.

MAINE will hold her State election today. The Democrats may as well prepare their ears for what will be to them unpleasant thunder. All reports concur in representing that the Republican majority will not be less than twenty thousand. Mr. S. S. Cox, who has been up there trying to help the Democrats, came away disheartened. He said to a friend: "I tell you, Sir, it is no use shutting our eyes to plain facts. The popular enthusiasm for GRANT is irresistible; he will sweep everything before him." Yes, and not only in Maine, but in almost every other State.

THE editor of the GAZETTE begs leave to inform the Post that he has no love for the acts creating the Legal Tender Currency, and never had. Their retrospective action took from him wrongfully full one-third of the savings of an industrious life, compelling him to accept payment of loans made on the gold basis in depreciated notes, ranging at a discount of from 110 to 280. He comprehends that this game is pleasant enough to debtors, and has felt that it bites sharply such as happen to be creditors. An appeal to the selfishness of debtors does not comport either with reason or justice.

He further states that, although victimized by the acts in question, and as he believes unnecessarily, he sustained them generally so long as they were a necessity of the war. Military necessity justifies, or at least excuses, almost anything. But the plea of necessity growing out of the war, ceased two years ago and more. The Government has no valid reason for perpetuating an unconvertible paper currency.

Democrats, including the Post, have still less excuse than the government for insisting upon the lengthening of the era of unconvertibility. They denounced the Legal Tenure Acts from the start, as unconstitutional and void. When Judges WOODWARD, THOMPSON and SHARSWOOD delivered opinions in cases pending before them, going to exactly that extent, they clapped their hands in extacies of delight, and discoursed enthusiastically of the superior excellence of a currency consisting of "mint drops," or, at least of notes convertible into such at the pleasure of the holders. Now, they are the champions of "irredeemable paper promises to pay."

The GAZETTE is not in that line, and never was. For three years it has steadily insisted, as the Post knows full well, upon returning promptly to specie payments, thus affording one currency to the bondholder and the bill holder, the capitalist and the laborer; irredeemable paper for none.

Are you answered?

DISCORD AMONG THE DOCTORS.

Mr. HOFFMAN, the Democratic candidate for Governor of New York, made a speech at Buffalo a few days since, from which we quote:

"Every man here knows, and every intelligent man throughout the country knows, that this Government cannot, and never will pay the principal of these bonds in gold as long as gold is worth as much more than greenbacks, as it is to-day. [Loud cheers.] If this Government cannot make its greenbacks worth more than seventy cents on the dollar, it cannot pay these bonds in gold. There is no use in shutting your eyes to that fact. If you are to meet the question and remove the difficulties which surround it, you will say these greenbacks will be made as good as gold, and then there will be no question as to the payment of your bonds."

This is a plain declaration and from high Democratic authority that the Government will not pay the bonds at all while gold is at a premium, but will first bring the currency up to the same value as gold; and then "there will be no question" about it, since nothing is left to dispute about. This is unusually sound doctrine for a Democrat, but it is a very remarkable repudiation of the New York platform. The Democracy need peace.

On the other hand, Gen. BOWIE, a distinguished Maryland Democrat, declared at Baltimore, when ratifying the SEYMOUR and BLAIR nominations, that he was in favor of taxing the bonds "because they were the means for carrying on the most unholy war in history; because he could read upon their face a contribution to an unholy and wicked purpose."

And yet another eminent Democrat, Mr. PENDLETON, proposes to destroy the value of bonds and currency alike, by repudiating the interest and swamping the principal. He also considered the war, which created the debt, "an unholy and wicked one," but takes another road to accomplish the same object as BOWIE held dear.

Evidently, the Democracy need pacification.

GOV. BULLOCK, of Georgia, boldly and powerfully protests against the new regime of rebellion and violence in the Legislature of his State. GOV. SCOTT, of South Carolina, informs the rebels of that State that he can keep the freedmen in order, and them also. Gen. GILLEM, in Mississippi, refuses to permit any action to be taken by the Ku-Klux, looking to any participation in the Presidential election. He informs the rebels that no law exists requiring or authorizing him to countenance such action.

It is also announced that the President has assured the Legislative Committee from Tennessee of his determination to sustain the civil authority in that State, and the necessary orders, to be sustained by an adequate force, have already been issued therefor. Mr. JOHNSON seems indisposed to increase the certainty of the defeat of SEYMOUR and BLAIR by any palpable collusion in the rebel crusade against the Constitution and laws. We shall renew our congratulations upon his astuteness, when he may have committed himself as decidedly upon similar applications from the constituted authorities of the reconstructed States.

ONE of those awful disturbances of nature, whereby whole cities are blotted out of existence and their inhabitants swallowed into the bowels of the earth, is reported as having occurred along the coasts of Peru and Ecuador, in South America, on the 16th ult. From the details received of the terrible earthquake we can form no just estimate of the dreadful train of disasters which followed. Whole cities have been engulfed in the chasms sprung open to receive them, and countless thousands of human beings with millions of wealth have disappeared forever from the surface of the earth—hidden deep in a vast grave prepared without a moment's warning. We await further particulars, with the hope that the accounts yet received of what now appears to be the greatest calamity of the nineteenth century, may be exaggerations of the truth.

HON. WM. JESSUP, L. L. D., died at his residence in Montrose on the 11th instant, at the age of seventy-one years. His decease has been expected for some time, owing to repeated attacks of paralysis. He was widely known by reputation throughout the country, and personally by a very large number throughout the State. He was born at Southampton, Long Island, graduated at Yale College in 1815, studied law, and was admitted to the bar in Montrose. His success at the bar won for him the appointment of President Judge, which position he held for a long period. His judicial course was characterized by great ability, clearness, impartiality, and a stern adherence to integrity and uprightness,

A LETTER FROM GEN. GRANT.

The following letter, written by General GRANT to his father during the Vicksburg campaign, and never intended for the public eye, has just appeared in print. It is remarkable for its peculiar illustration of certain features in the character of the writer—his modesty, firmness, integrity and patriotism—which have already endeared him to the masses of his countrymen:

MILLIKEN'S BEND, La., April 21, '63.

DEAR FATHER: Your letter of the 7th of April has just this day reached me. I hasten to answer your interrogations. When I left Memphis, with my past experience, I prohibited trade below Helena. Trade to that point had previously been opened by the Treasury Department. I give no permits to buy cotton, and if I find any one engaged in the business I send them out of the Department and seize their cotton for the Government. I have given a few families permission to leave the country and to take with them so far as Memphis their cotton. In doing this I have been deceived by unprincipled speculators, who have successfully smuggled themselves along with the army in spite of orders prohibiting them, and have been compelled to suspend this favor to persons anxious to get out of Dixie.

I understand that Government has adopted some plan to regulate getting the cotton out of the country. I do not know what plan they have adopted, but am satisfied that any that can be adopted, except for Government to take the cotton themselves, and rule out speculators altogether, will be a bad one. I feel all army followers who are engaged in speculating off the misfortunes of their country, and really aiding the enemy more than they possibly could do by open treason, should be drafted at once and put in the first forlorn hope.

I move my headquarters to New Carthage to morrow. This whole country is under water, except strips of land behind the levees, along the rivers and bayous, and makes operations almost impossible. I struck upon a plan which I thought would give me a foothold on the east bank of the Mississippi before the enemy could offer any great resistance. But the difficulty of the last one and a half miles next to Carthage makes it so tedious that the enemy cannot fail to discover my plans. I am doing my best and am full of hope for complete success. Time has been consumed, but it was absolutely impossible to avoid it. An attack upon the rebel works at any time since I arrived here must inevitably have resulted in the loss of a large portion of my army, if not in an entire defeat. There were but two points of land, Haines' Bluff and Vicksburg itself, out of water at any place from which troops could march. These are thoroughly fortified, and it would be folly to attack them as long as there is a prospect of turning their position. I never expect to have an army under my command whipped unless it is very badly whipped and can't help it, but I have no idea of being driven to do a desperate or foolish act by the howlings of the press. It is painful to me, as a matter of course, to see the course pursued by some of the papers. But there is no one less disturbed by them than myself. I have never sought a large command, and have no ambitious ends to accomplish. Were it not for the very natural desire of proving myself equal to anything expected of me, and the evidence of my removal would afford that I was not thought equal to it, I would gladly accept a less responsible position. I have no desire to be an object of envy or jealousy, nor to have this war continue. I want, and will do my part toward it, to put down the rebellion in the shortest possible time, without expecting or desiring any other recognition than a quiet approval of my course.

I beg that you will destroy this letter; at least, do not show it.

Julia and the children are here, but will go up by the first good boat. I sent for her to come down and get instructions about some business I want attended to, and see no immediate prospect of attending to myself.

ULYSSES.

THE REPUBLICANS of New Orleans vindicated their right on Saturday night to make a public demonstration in that city, by a torch-light procession and other modes of peaceable display. The Thug Democracy having threatened that it should be interrupted by mob violence and bloodshed, it became evident that any disturbance of that character would be promptly and effectively repelled, Measures were therefore taken by the military for preserving the peace, and the Thugs, finding the affair too strong for them, wisely forbore any interference. The procession was very large, and its transparencies bore such inscriptions as the following:

"Tammany Hall—the Hall of Traitors;" "Remember Lincoln;" "Men Enough have been Murdered;" "Seymour Means Slavery," "No Compromise with Rebels;" "Let us have Peace."

THE Sunday Leader says:

"The Gazette has 'the best authority' for saying that Judge Mellon will not vote for Seymour. The Gazette's authority is bad. It has been the common street talk for a month past that the Judge is as earnest a worker for Democratic success as the duties of his office permit. His Honor does not obtrude his opinions, nor does he hide them. They are easily found out by the 'anxious inquirer.'"

Our authority is Judge MELLON. The Leader's is "common street talk." After due consideration, we prefer ours.

Meeting at Bakerstown.

The Republicans of Richland township held a meeting at Bakerstown Friday evening. It was one of the most enthusiastic meetings held outside of the city during the campaign.

The meeting was called to order by Dr. A. Harper, President of the Baker town Grant Club, who introduced J. F. Slagle. Mr. Slagle entertained the meeting for over an hour with an eloquent and able address.

W. T. Haines was then introduced and made a most excellent and telling speech, after which the meeting adjourned.

REPUBLICAN MASS MEETING AT CITY HALL.

Speeches by Judge Bond and Gen. King of Maryland.

The meeting called at Hare's Hotel, Saturday evening, in consequence of the heavy rain which commenced falling about half-past seven o'clock, was held in City Hall, and notwithstanding the rain which fell in torrents for over an hour, the Hall was filled to its utmost capacity.

At eight o'clock the meeting was called to order by W. A. Herron, Esq., who proposed the following list of officers:

President—James McAuley, Esq.

Vice Presidents—James Reese, Capt. W. B. Cook, B. Morganstern, Samuel Morrow, Samuel Barclay, Samuel McKee, Frank Ardary, T. B. Young, Richard Perry, Col. George Gerst, John Magraw, George Glass, Charles Jeremy, Thomas Steel, James McKean, Col. Joseph Kaye, Charles Dravo, Dr. Gross, Daniel Fralich, W. C. Aughinbaugh, C. C. Smith and John Phillips.

Secretaries—Reporters of the Republican press.

Mr. McAuley, upon taking the chair, thanked the meeting for selecting him to preside. He said he had no speech to make, but there were two loyal men from Maryland who would address the meeting. He then introduced Judge Bond, of Baltimore, who said:

Wise men are deceived by subterfuge once, fools are deceived many times. In 1860 and '61 the ears of the people of the United States heard from the men of the South many threats. They said if Abraham Lincoln was elected they would secede, and that one southern man would put to flight ten northern mudsills or workingmen. The hunker politicians of the North said these were idle threats, that they did not mean what they said; but the sequel proved that they were in earnest and that they meant to execute their threats. The same class of persons in the South are again at work firing the southern heart to open rebellion against the laws of the land, and the same northern croakers tell us they do not mean it, that they are only idle threats; but we men of Maryland know that they do mean what they say, and if they should succeed in electing their candidates the threats of Frank Blair, Wade Hampton, and others of that class, to overthrow the State governments established by Congress in the South, will be attempted.

The speaker here turned his attention to the question of reconstruction. He held that the North had the right to dictate the terms upon which the rebellious States should be restored to their rights under the constitution. He cared not whether they were out of the Union or not; they had inaugurated a wicked rebellion against the laws of the nation, which it had cost thousands of lives and treasure to conquer, and having been conquered must expect their conquerers to dictate the terms of peace. The victors had been too lenient sometimes in imposing present conditions upon them; they only asked them to give some guarantee for their conduct in the future, and if, according to the Democratic doctrine, there was no power in the government to protect itself against treason and secession, Congress certainly had the right to impose such conditions upon these conquered traitors as to prevent them from making another attack upon the life of the nation.

The objections of the Democracy to the reconstruction policy of Congress were, that it placed the negro on an equality with them, and he feared there were some weak-kneed Republicans affected in the same way. He held that if God created the negro equal to a Democrat, the Democrat could not help it; and if he did not, then the negro could not help it. The Republican party were not as a party afraid of negro equality; knowing the negro to be a downtrodden, unfortunate creature, humanity demanded that he should be raised from his low estate, and the party is trying to elevate him from his degraded condition. He did not think the negro his equal, and therefore did not ask an enactment of the Legislature to keep him from competition with them. If God has created the negro inferior to the white race, it certainly was not necessary to place a State law in his way as a barrier to prevent him from becoming the superior of his former master.

The Democrats say that we, the Republican party, have degraded white labor by bringing it in competition with negro labor. This proposition he said was false, and was only intended to catch votes. Four millions of slaves had been liberated, it was true; but was not the competition greater and more degrading when they were in slavery, and fed and clothed by their masters in the most economical manner.

The speaker referred to the rebel rule in Maryland, and said it was not probable that rebels were more mild further South. In Maryland he said that the negro had no rights that men recognized. The judges juries and officers were all rebels, and the poor negro was in a worse condition than when he was in slavery.

In referring to the financial question, the speaker said the question was not whether we should pay the debt in gold or in greenbacks, but it was whether we should pay it at all or not; and if the Democratic party succeed this fall it never will be paid. If the South regained a controlling influence in the Congress of the United States they could not speak of high taxes, because they paid none, and they would double them by pensioning Southern soldiers and widows and by paying for the slaves who had been liberated.

It did not become the Democrats, who had forced this upon the country and compelled then to incur the debt to crush out the rebellion, to talk of high taxes.

He closed his remarks with a most eloquent and beautiful peroration, which set the audience in a perfect blaze of enthusiasm.

Prof. Pope was loudly called for, and responded with the "U. S. Race."

General King, of Maryland, being called for, was introduced by the Chairman.

General King said: When the pistol of Wilkes Booth flashed in the theatre at Washington City and stopped the beating of the kindest heart that ever throbbed in the breast of man, and sent the spirit of Abraham Lincoln straight up to Heaven to dwell among the stars, the third act of this rebellion began After failing in the attempt to destroy the Government by open rebellion, the rebels sought to overthrow it by cowardly assassinating the President.

The war, he said, was forced upon the Northern people and the South had been conquered, and had it not been for that miserable tool, Andrew Johnson, who was forced upon the nation by the act of an assassin, peace and quietness would now reign throughout the land.

The speaker said that the same issues were presented in the approaching contest, to be decided by the ballot, that were fought for south of the Potomac, and if we fail to elect Grant all the noble lives lost and the millions of treasure expended in that contest will have been spent in vain.

The financial question was here taken up and discussed in an able manner. The speaker held that the public debt had been reduced two hundred and fifty millions in addition to paying the interest on the whole amount since August 1st, 1865, and in addition to this they were compelled to support an army of sixty thousand men to take care of Southern Democrats. The Democracy, he said, charged the Republican party with squandering the people's money. This he said was false, as the actual expenses of running the government were not as great as they were during Buchanan's administration, notwithstanding the country had largely increased in population in that time, and the army was nearly four times as large as it then was.

In speaking of the payment of the bonds, the speaker said that it did not enter into the contest. He, however, refuted the idea that the Government securities were held by them, but showed conclusively by figures that the great majority of them were held by the laboring classes, by insurance companies and widows and orphans. He produced facts and figures to sustain his position, and said that if the policy of paying the bonds in greenbacks was carried out that the whole country would be bankrupt within thirty days after the scheme is inaugurated, every workshop in this city would be closed and business would be suspended throughout the land.

The speaker referred in eloquent terms to the record of General Grant during the war, and closed his address with an eloquent peroration, in which he urged upon all present to see to it that treason received a death blow at the October election in this State.

The following resolution was then adopteed:

Resolved, That the thanks of the Republicans of Allegheny county are hereby returned to the two loyal, true Union Marylanders, Judge Bond and General King.

On motion the resolution was adopted with three cheers.

Prof. Pope was again called upon and responded with an original campaign song, after which the meeting adjourned.

Grand Rally at Turtle Creek.

On Saturday, at four o'clock P. M., a large and spirited meeting was held at Turtle Creek, on the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The meeting was organized by the selection of the following officers:

President—Col. Jos. M. Kinkead.

Vice Presidents—Thos Park, Wm. Grey, Alexander Kerr, Duncan Hamilton, Col. S. Elder, Robert Shaw and John Morrison.

Secretaries—Dr. W. L. Huster, M. V. Douglass and David S. McKee.

Major A. M. Brown made a stirring, characteristic speech. After a brief allusion to the Union and rebel candidates, and a graphic description of New York Convention, the Major discussed the issues of the campaign in a fearless and intelligible way.

Hon. Russell Errett followed with a strong and convincing speech. He first urged the importance of a full vote in October, as an overwhelming majority then will encourage the Union men throughout the land, and add much to the glorious triumph of the Union cause in November. He then proceeded to give an elucidation of the XIVth admendment and the reconstruction acts.

Both speakers were attentively listened to throughout, not one of the audience leaving till the meeting was closed.

A splendid campaign song was sung by Prof. Slack in his good style, after which the meeting adjourned.

In Saturday's Gazette we had a brief article under the head of "Where are the Postoffice Detectives?" in reference to which W. H. McKelvey, Postmaster of Allegheny, writes an article so personal, and as we claim so unwarranted by our article, that for the present we withhold it from the public, believing that upon a critical re-perusal of our article of Saturday he will fail to find a single word of blame or censure of the Postmaster or Postoffice in Allegheny. We certainly intended to impute no blame and none can be fairly inferred from what was said. We simply stated facts—precisely as they were given, and the author is, as we stated, a perfectly reliable gentleman, whose statements we contend it was our duty, as faithful public journalists, to make public. It is thus, more than in any or all other ways, that the correction of evils such as the one mentioned is superinduced. We trust Mr. McKelvey will agree with us in this opinion. It is of the utmost importance that the commercial correspondence of the country confided to the mails should be securely guarded over every mile of their transmission. We believe the General Postoffice Department undertakes this duty and employs guards and detectives over at least the principal routes. It is a quite possible thing that some of these are unfaithful or negligent. What we wrote was intended and we think calculated to arouse such to greater vigilance. We thought, and still think, we made a proper use of the facts stated to us, in this behalf, and that the Postmaster has wholly misunderstood the article and its objects, and in place of censuring us he should commend our course as one which he might with great propriety authorize or approve. We have no less confidence in Mr. McKelvey as a faithful and efficient officer than is felt by the business men of Allegheny generally.

MEDICAL HINTS FOR THE FALL.

The semi-annual shaking in the fever and ague districts has begun. The fogs of these autumn nights and mornings are surcharged with the elements of intermittent and bilious remittent fevers, and, unfortunately, two-thirds of the community are just in the condition to be disastrously affected by them. Those who have been prudent enough to fortify themselves during the summer with that powerful and infallible vegetable invigorant -HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS—are fore-armed against malaria, and have nothing to fear. But health is the last thing too many think about. In the pursuit of gain or pleasure the blessing, without which health is dross and enjoyment impossible, is neglected.

Better late than never is a consolatory proverb, however, and all who begin to feel the premonitory symptoms of any of the epidemics which are engendered by the malaria of autumn, should immediately resort to the GREAT ANTIDOTE OF THE AGE. A few doses of the BITTERS will break up the chills and prevent their recurrence. In every region where intermittents prevail this purest and best of all vegetable tonics is indispensable. Of all antibilious preparations known it is the most effective and harmless. It does not stimulate the liver violently, like the mineral salivants, but tones, renovates and regulates the organ without creating any general disturbance of the system or entailing any reaction. The Bitters are essentially a household specific, and should be always within reach as the very best means of preventing and checking bilious attacks and intermittent fevers.

CHRONIC DISEASES OF THE EAR.

In observations and notes taken by Dr. KEYSER, of this city, on the various diseases of the ear, he says that nine out of ten cases could be cured in their incipiency if application were made to some responsible and competent aural surgeon. The Doctor quotes from the opinion of Wilde, a well known aural surgeon, who says: "I fear not to reiterate the assertion which I made on several former occasions, that if the disease of the ear were as well studied or understood by the generality of practitioners, and as early attended to as those of the eye, it would be found that they were just as much within the pale of scientific treatment. * * Deafness is so common and so distressing an infirmity, and when of long standing so incurable, that we cannot too strongly urge all medical practitioners to make themselves familiar with the treatment of the diseases of the ear."

The Doctor says that nearly all annoying Discharges, Buzzings and Morbid Growths peculiar to the organ of the hearing, some of which had lingered through a score or two of years, can be cured or ameliorated by proper treatment.

FOUND.

That after repeated trials of other remedies, Roback's Stomach Bitters, Blood Purifier and Blood Pills are the best medicines extant to cure the diseases for which they are recommended.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

PILES.

There is no medicine in use so efficacous as Dr. Roback's Blood Purifier and Blood Pills for the permanent cure of Blind or Bleeding Piles; they strike at the root of disease, thereby removing the cause.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

TEMPERANCE.

There is, perhaps, no one thing that has done so much to promote the cause of temperance as that gentle stimulating tonic, Roback's Stomach Bitters; they strengthen and invigorate without producing the ill effects of alcoholic stimulants.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

LIVER PILLS

Are Pills that have a direct and powerful action on the liver, and relieve any inactivity or congested state of that all important organ upon which depends the whole process of digestion. The importance, then, of procuring a Pill that shall have such direct action without the ill effects of mercury, is manifest to every one; such Pills are Roback's Blood Pills; they are warranted purely vegetable, and can with certainty be relied upon, and are safe at all times.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

INDIGESTION

Is but another name for Dyspepsia, and the parent of many ills. Roback's Stomach Bitters taken in wine-glass-full doses, directly after each meal, will surely effect a permanent cure. Do not take our word for it, but try them.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

NIGHT MARE

Is one of the many diseases of which Dyspepsia is the parent. To effect a cure persons should avoid hearty food at night, and take a wine glass-full of Roback's Stomach Bitters on retiring to bed.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

RENOVATE.

During the Spring months it is one of the regular household duties to renovate, and, in the multiplicity of other duties one's own self is, in a great measure, overlooked; thousands of valuable lives might be prolonged, and many doubtless saved from premature graves by thoroughly renovating the system with Dr. Roback's Blood Pills, Stomach Bitters and Blood Purifier.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

MELANCHOLY

Is one of the many disorders of the nervous system, arising from a low state of the constitutional health or severe prostration after long continued sickness, and requires invigorating remedies like Roback's Stomach Bitters to restore the nerves to their natural vitality.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

WHO SELLS THEM?

The Agents for the sale of ROBACK'S BLOOD PILLS, STOMACH BITTERS and BLOOD PURIFIER are all Druggists everywhere.

GEORGE HARDING, Philadelphia, Pa.

This Company, National in its character, offers, by reason of the Large Capital, Low Rates of Premium and New Tables, the most desirable means of insuring life yet presented to the public.

The rates of premium being largely reduced, are made as favorable to the insurers as those of the best Mutual Companies, and avoid all the complications and uncertainties of Notes, Dividends and the misunderstandings which the latter are so apt to cause the Policy-Holders.

Several new and attractive tables are now presented which need only to be understood to prove acceptable to the public, such as INCOME-PRODUCING POLICY and RETURN PREMIUM POLICY. In the former, the policy-holder not only secures a life insurance, payable at death, but will receive, if living, after a period of a few years, an annual income equal to ten per cent. (10 per cent.) of the par of his policy. The latter the Company agrees to return to the assured the total amount of money he has paid in, in addition to the amount of his policy.

The attention of persons contemplating insuring their lives or increasing the amount of insurance they already have, is called to the special advantages offered by the National Life Insurance Company.

Circulars, Pamphlets and full particulars given on application to the Branch Office of the Company in Philadelphia, or its General Agents.

☞ LOCAL AGENTS ARE WANTED in every City and Town; and applications from competent parties for such agencies with suitable endorsement, should be addressed To THE COMPANY'S GENERAL AGENTS ONLY, in their respective districts.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
SATURDAY, September 12, 1868.

The gold market was remarkably quiet on Saturday. Large short contracts are still outstanding uncovered, and the amount of gold on the market is limited, yet the clique formed for advancing quotations are very eager to realize the moment there is sufficient margin left. Large arrivals of grain, cotton and other western and southern products will give an abundance of exchange, so that no fears need be entertained for further shipments of bullion to Europe. Likewise is there an increasing demand for United States bonds from Europe for permanent investment, which will cover all our importations of luxuries.

Government bonds are rather unsettled; the large dealers and the stock cliques do all in their power to influence the market to suit their own purpose, but no argument can be brought forward sufficiently strong to induce large purchases. The European markets are all well supplied from any demand coming from that quarter, and the dullness of business will force western holders to part with their bonds, so that the ordinrry demand can be supplied from that quarter.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
SATURDAY, September 12, 1868.

GENERAL REVIEW.

The Crude market during the first five days of this week was dull and neglected, the sales being unusually light, and prices have steadily declined throughout. To-day, however, the market was more active, the reported sales reaching about twenty-four thousand barrels, though prices were about the same as on Friday. The receipts of Crude for the week foot up 20,670 barrels, against 21,795 bbls, last week and since January 1st, 742,212 bls. The exports of Refined were 17,120 barrels, against 15,699 barrels last week, and since January 1st, 459,617 barrels, against 435,855, for the corresponding time last year. The sales during the week were 51,100 barrels, against 82,000 barrels last week.

CRUDE.

The market was unusually active to-day, the reported sales aggregating twenty-four thousand barrels, while prices, compared with Friday, have undergone no quotable change. The sales were: 1,000 each October and November at 11c; 2,000 October at 11c; 2,000 do at 11⅛c; 3,000 first water, at 11c; 1,000 each October and November at 11c; 500 each half October at 11c; 4,000—1,000 each September to December, inclusive—at 11c; 1,000 September and October, buyer's option, at 11c; 1,000 each October and November at 11c; 1,000, seller's option, until April, 1869, at 10c; 1,000, seller's option, January to July, at 10c, and 1,000 each—October and November—sold last evening—at 11c. From the above, it will be seen that eleven cents is regarded as the ruling price for almost any delivery between now and January 1st, 1869, and 10c for seller's option, for the first half of 1869.

REFINED.

The market continues very quiet and rather weak, though there seems to be no further decline, compared with the closing quotations of Friday evening. Spot oil, in the absence of sales, may be quoted at 29; last half of September at 29 to 29¼; and we heard of the last three months—October, November and December—being offered both at 29 and 29¼. The leading topic of discussion among our refiners just now is in regard to the western trade, and judging from present indications, we feel pretty well satisfied that Pittsburgh within the next three months will send considerable oil to most, if not all, of the leading Western markets. We hear it intimated that our western railroads are disposed to do what is right in the matter, by carrying oil at a figure that will enable Pittsburgh to successfully compete with other points, and by so doing they will not only benefit the oil interest of this city, but they will also help themselves.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
SATURDAY, September, 12, 1868.

The general markets have been rather quiet during the past week, and devoid of anything that is really new or important. Some articles in consequence of a temporary scarcity have stiffened up and appreciated in value, while others, with a supply in excess of the demand, have depreciated. Upon the whole, however, there have been no very important changes in values, and as a general thing, the demand for almost everything has been confined mainly to supplying the immediate wants of the local trade.

HOW TO FURNISH A HOUSE.

BY HENRY WARD BEECHER.

It is the man's own mind that makes anything beautiful. If one be rich in the affections and in taste, he will soon make everything about him seem beautiful. It is true that there is a natural adaptation in forms, colors, and harmonious combinations to excite pleasure and admiration. But even the rarest grace and choicest beauty are without effect upon one who is deficient in taste. And, on the other hand, things plain and even homely, become beautiful in the presence of a soul that has the power to cover all external things with associations which are derived from the affections or the fancy. I am fond of thinking that Morning Glories are a natural symbol of this truth. No because they are both graceful and beautiful, perhaps beyond all the vines of the Temperate Zone, but because they have the art of making other things beautiful. In the spring I set a simple stake in the ground, and at the top nail on one or two cross pieces a yard long. At the foot are planted morning glories. All the spring and early summer that stake is an offence to me. It stands, morning and evening bare, gaunt, and hard; but by the last of July, the convolvulus has clasped it, twined about it, spread over each cross piece, returned upon itself, and heaped up an airy mass of leaves, every morning starred all over with exquisite blossoms! There, all the rest of the season, stands that pillar of beauty, sustained by a dry and homely cedar stake, but glorified by the profuse and generous vine which covers it! [I have seen just such things done, by the way, in the household. Some pragmatical fellow, by God's special and wonderful favor, has married a woman of rare goodness and taste. He is hard, dry, literal, stiff and immoveable. She twines about him and throws out tendrils, leaves and blossoms, a perpetual wealth of beauty, that hides his ugliness. "Ah," says the man, "all this burden of leaves may be well, but what would you do if it were not for my strength on which you climb? It is I that give your beauty all the advantage!" Foolish and conceited prig—you might stand to all eternity, if alone, without a change in your ugliness; while this sweet vine, even if it had nothing to lean upon, would have covered the ground, and wreathing around itself, would have lifted a dome of beauty so high above the ground that the soil, rain-spattered, should not touch it with defilement.]

Let me see—where was I before that parenthesis? Ah! I see. My morning-glories do not ask anything to be made beautiful for them. It is their business to make beauty for themselves and for others. I had a heap of stones on one side of my boundry fence, heaped for convenience till I should wish to use them. I took a handful of convulvulus seed and threw them along the edge, and said pray help me? Now not a stone can be seen! Instead of a gray and yellow heap, there stands a green altar some twenty feet long and eight feet high, beautiful all day, but exquisite every morning, past all words, with hundreds of floral bells, moistened with dew. And not content with this, these sweet vines have wreathed their arms together, and reached up to the branches of some sumach bushes, and now are climbing all over them, and wreathing their green around the cones of brilliant crimson sumach berries, and still going on, I found them reaching into the lower branches of a stately tulip tree, as if they meant next to take this rugged giant captive by the wiles of their beauty.

There is no house so poor that a blossoming, twining nature cannot bring beauty to it! The plainest chairs, the scantiest carpet, the rudest furniture, become endeared to those who have lived, loved and rejoiced in their presence. There is yonder a cradle shaped of coarse plank, rudely fastened, ill proportioned and clumsy. But a mother has in that cradle rocked all her children. In her eyes it has taken something of beauty from every child. It glows with memories richer than all the colors which wealth can wrap around crib or cradle. Its very rudeness and its noisy rockers have become pleasant to her fancy.

A contented disposition, an affectionate heart, a fruitful fancy, a pure and gentle taste, will make a wilderness bud and blossom as the rose.

If one is poor in pocket, there is the more need that he be rich in heart. If one cannot hire the architect nor fee the upholster, let him all the more use his own thoughts as builders, and from the loom within draw out patterns rarer and daintier than are ever woven in foreign factories. His dwelling cannot be unfurnished or homely who is himself well furnished and beautiful within.—N. Y Ledger.

On Mustaches and Beards.

From Abraham and Isaac to Louis Napoleon the male dwellers on this mundane sphere have taken a certain sort of pride in cultivating that hairy appendage which has been anglicized from the French into what we call a mustache.

From what was once supposed to be a proper respect for that nature which first induced hair to sprout upon a man's upper lip, the practice of wearing mustaches nowadays has grown to be scarcely anything more than a mere matter of taste.

There is, in fact, a certain model, or standard of style, and men cherish this growth in sympathy with such a style, and not from any recognition of the natural law, which prescribes mustaches as conductive to health. The simplicity of the patriarchal days would sit awkwardly upon a fop of the nineteenth century. Fashion has swallowed up antiquity. Father Kemp's widow would die in a poor house if she should attempt to sell bonnets to Gotham. The world moves, women move, men move, mustaches move; and it would move a man to madness to ask him to shorten or lengthen its growth contrary to style.

That Nature intended man to wear a full beard and mustache is evident from the fact that she made them grow on his face, but in accordance with the laws of that powerful mistress, "Fashion," they are now cut and worn in all conceivable shapes. That beards are great protectors of health cannot be denied, yet many who greatly need them are those who wear them least. Why a minister should not let the hirsute appendage on his face grow as well as another man is a puzzle. It may be partially accounted for from the fact that it is not fashionable in that profession, possibly from the reason given by an old Methodist minister. "It makes religious men look too worldly."

This may do well for these days, but in the time of the Patriarchs this doctrine would have been heresy. And even since then, in some countries, Persia, in particular, no man was allowed to sit in council who had not a flowing beard. Hence the desire of a young man's heart was to grow that emblem of wisdom as rapidly as possible. Beards, among Eastern nations, have always been admired and respected, and the greatest toilet-care a Turk bestows, is upon his beard, and that he respects it is undoubted. "By the beards of my ancestors" is his clinching oath. One stupid reason why some very young men do not let their beards grow is that some young ladies do not admire them. In Spain there is a problem, that a face without a mustache is like an egg without salt.

One of the first longings of a boy's heart is for the down on his face to begin to sprout, that he may patronize a barber and put on the airs of a man; and his happiness is complete when he can play with a tuft on his chin.

Standing on a prominent corner the other day, the writer of this article took the trouble to note the various styles of beard of those who passed him. A memorandum of sixty-three read as follows:

"Seven full beards with mustache. Eleven full beards without mustache. Four side whiskers without mustache. Nine side whiskers with mustache. Two imperials without mustache. One imperial with mustache. Five goatees without mustache. Two goatees with mustache. Twenty-two mustaches alone, seven of which were worn short to the lip. Four were worn by being drawn out at the ends, a la Napoleon. Two were curled up at the ends, and nine looked like small roofs built over the mouth, and suggested the fact that the best way to feed their owners would be to stand them upon their heads.

THE New York Tribune says: A fruit-preserving car, recently patented, was opened on the Hudson River Railroad track, at Chambers street and West Broadway, yesterday morning. It was loaded with peaches in Ohio, a number of days ago, and had been forwarded to this place by slow freight trains. The fruit appeared as fresh as when picked from the trees. The end which the inventor of this car wished to attain was to reduce the temperature of the interior, and to keep the atmosphere as nearly dry as possible. This has been accomplished by placing two linings within the car, with a space of about two or three inches between them. The space between the outside of the car and the first lining is filled with air, and the space between the first and second linings with wool. On the inner sides of the car there are several zinc boxes projecting into it about three inches, and these are filled with ice, or with salt and ice from without. These boxes cool the air in the car, and condense and freeze upon themselves the moisture that it may have contained. By the use of salt and ice the temperature within the car may be reduced much below the freezing point, and as the car is never opened until it reaches its destination, it may be constantly kept at the same temperature. This invention is particularly adapted to the transportion of meats, which may be prepared in the West, forwarded here in a perfectly fresh condition, and sold cheaper than at present. The cost of the cars is about $600 each more than that of ordinary ones, and perishable articles may be forwarded by it at much less expense than by express.

HERE is a toilette which appeared at a dinner party of the Princess Merternich: "A very long dress of white Sultana, with a number of small golden-colored pipings and flouncings. The tunic was looped back, and very much puffed out en paniers at the sides. The waist was cut low, and in form of a heart, in front as well as behind, and completed by a fichu Lamballe, fastened to the shoulders with a gold-colored knot. The fichu had microscopic yellow flounces, and pipings for ornament, and fastening in form of a heart, both in front and behind, fell back in short flaps cut round at the upper part of the skirt. These flaps were fastened to the place where the paniers commenced, by knots, similar to those on the shoulders. The very wide belt, composed of a gold-colored ribbon, fell back behind over the skirt.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ THE APPETITE FOR

Tobacco Destroyed!

Leave off Chewing and Smoking the Poisonous Weed, Tobacco.

One box of ORTON'S PREPARATION IS WARRANTED to destroy the appetite for tobacco in any person, no matter how strong the habit may be. ☞ IF IT FAILS IN ANY CASE THE MONEY WILL BE REFUNDED. It is almost impossible to break off from the use of tobacco by the mere exercise of the will. Something is needed to assist nature in overcoming a habit so firmly rooted; with the help of the preparation there is not the least trouble. Hundreds have used it who are willing to bear witness to the fact that ORTON'S PREPARATION completely destroys the appetite for tobacco and leaves the person as free from any desire for it as before he commenced its use. It is perfectly safe and harmless in all cases. The Preparation acts directly upon the same glands and secretions affected by tobacco, and through these upon the blood, thoroughly cleansing the poison of tobacco from the system, and thus allaying the unnatural cravings of tobacco.

NO MORE HANKERING FOR TOBACCO AFTER USING ORTON'S PREPARATION! RECOLLECT IT IS WARRANTED. BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS!

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The following are a few selected from the multitude of recommendations in our possession:

[From W. P. Heald, Esq., Bangor, Me.]

BANGOR, Me., April 24, 1868.

I hereby certify that I have used tobacco for thirty years past, and for the last fifteen years I have used two pounds per month. I have made attempts to leave off at different times. I have left off one year at a time, but always continued to hanker for it until I used Orton's Preparation, which has completely cured me of the appetite for tobacco. I would recommend all who are affected with this terrible habit to try the preparation, which will certainly cure it if the directions are followed.

W. P. HEALD.

[From E. W. Adkins, Knoxville, Tenn.]

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., August 5, 1867.

This is to certify that I had used tobacco to such an extent that my health had become greatly impaired, and my whole system deranged and broken down. In June, 1867, I purchased one box of Orton's Preparation, and after using it I found that I was completely cured. I have not had any hankering or desire for tobacco since using the preparation. I believe it to be all that it is recommended, and I would advise all who wish to quit the use of tobacco to try one box of Orton's Preparation.

E. W. ADKINS.

[From John Morrill, Bangor, Me.]

BANGOR, Me., March 24, 1868.

This is to certify that I have used tobacco for eighteen years; have tried many times to leave off, but have suffered so much from a dizziness in my head, and gnawing at my stomach, that I have soon given up the trial. A short time since a friend induced me to try Orton's Preparation (sold by you.) I have done so, and am completely cured. I did not in the least hanker after tobacco, either to smoke or chew, after I began to use the Preparation.

JOHN MORRILL.

Price of ORTON'S PREPARATION Two Dollars per box, forwarded to any part of the country, post paid, on receipt of price. Money sent by mail at our risk. Address,

UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD.

700 MILES

OF THE

UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD

Are now finished and in operation. 160 miles of track have been laid this spring, and the work along the whole line between the Atlantic and Pacific States is being pushed forward more rapidly than ever before. More than twenty thousand men are employed, and it is not impossible that the entire track, from Omaha to Sacramento, will be finished in 1869 instead of 1870. The means provided are ample, and all that energy, men and money can do to secure the completion of this

GREAT NATIONAL WORK,

At the earliest possible day, will be done.

The UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY receive:

I.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of the right of way, and all necessary timber and other materials found along the line of its operations.

II.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of 12,800 acres of land to the mile, taken in alternate sections on each side of its road. This is an absolute donation, and will be a source of large revenue in the future.

III.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of United States Thirty-year Bonds, amounting to from $16,000 to $48,000 per mile, according to the difficulties to be surmounted on the various sections to be built. The Government takes a second mortgage as security, and it is expected that not only the interest, but the principal amount may be paid in services rendered by the Company in transporting troops, mails, &c. The interest is now much more than paid in this way, besides securing a great saving in time and money to the Government.

IV.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of the right to issue its own FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to aid in building the road, to the same amount as the U. S. Bonds, issued for the same purpose, and no more. The Government permits the Trustees for the First Mortgage Bondholders to deliver the Bonds to the Company only as the road is completed, and after it has been examined by United States Commissioners and pronounced to be in all respects a first-class Railroad, laid with a heavy T rail, and completely supplied with depots, stations, turnouts, carshops, locomotives, cars, &c.

V.—A CAPITAL STOCK SUBSCRIPTION from the stockholders, of which OVER EIGHT MILLION DOLLARS have been paid in upon the work already done, and which will be increased as the wants of the Company require.

VI.—NET CASH EARNINGS on its Way Business, that already amount to MORE THAN THE INTEREST on the First Mortgage Bonds. These earnings are no indication of the vast through traffic that must follow the opening of the line to the Pacific, but they certainly prove that upon such a property, costing nearly three times their amount, ARE SECURE BEYOND ANY CONTINGENCY.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

The Union Pacific Bonds run thirty years, are for $1,000 each, and have coupons attached. They bear annual interest, payable on the first days of January and July, at the Company's Office, in the City of New York, at the rate of six per cent. in gold. The Principal is payable in gold at maturity. The price is 102, and at the present rate of gold, they pay a liberal income on their cost.

The Company believe that these Bonds, at the present rate, are the cheapest in the market, and reserve the right to advance the price at any time.

Subscriptions will be received in Pittsburgh by

JAMES T. BRADY & Co., corner of Wood and Fourth Streets;
HART, CAUGHEY & Co., corner of Wood and Third Streets;
S. McCLEAN & CO., 75 Fourth Street;
PH. R. MERTZ, corner 5th and Wood Sts.;
ROBINSON BROS., 78 Fourth street;

AND IN NEW YORK

At the Company's Office, No. 20 Nassau Street, and by JOHN J. CISCO & SON, Bankers, No. 59 Wall Street, and by the Company's advertised agents throughout the United States.

Remittances should be made in drafts or other funds par in New York, and the Bonds will be sent free of charge by return express. Parties subscribing through local agents, will look to them for their safe delivery.

A PAMPHLET AND MAP FOR 1868 has just been published by the Company, giving fuller information than is possible in an advertisement, respecting the Progress of the Work, the Resources of the Country traversed by the Road, the Means for Construction, and the Value of the Bonds, which will be sent free on application at the Company's offices, or to any of the advertised agents.

Route for Sale.—A good route, with over 400 subscribers, in Allegheny City, on this paper. For particulars enquire at this office.

Night School will commence this evening at the Third and Fifth ward School House, Grant street.

The brutal arrest of Mrs. Dake was made the theme of a sermon in one of our churches yesterday.

New Roof.—Uncle Sam is repairing the roof on the Custom House, a much needed improvement we understand.

Committed.—Justice Arent, on Saturday, committed to jail Peter Henkle, charged with fornication on oath of Margaret Thies. The parties reside in Birmingham.

The City Republican Executive Committee will meet on next Monday, 14th inst., in the Common Council Chamber, at three o'clock p. m. A full attendance of the members is desired.

Assault.—Barbara Zang made information, on Saturday, before Justice Heisel against her husband, Gotleib Zang, for assault and battery. Gotleib was arrested and in default of $500 bail committed for trial.

Pardoned.—Frank Wilson, who was committed to the Penitentiary about eighteen months ago, for a term of six years, for robbery, was pardoned by Governor Geary and released from the institution on Friday afternoon.

Night School.—The old Third ward Night School will open in the school house on Grant street, this evening at 7 o'clock. Those interested should endeavor to be present at the appointed time so as to avoid future confusion in the arrangements for the term.

The Second Ward Grant Club is making extensive arrangements for the display on the 24th inst. The Bridgewater Club, numbering some eight hundred members, are expected to participate in the Convention as the guests of this Club. The latter hold a very important meeting this evening at headquarters.

False Alarm.—The alarm from box twenty-six, which occurred about five o'clock yesterday morning, proved to be false. The Fire Department responded promptly, but being unable to find the fire returned to their quarters in rather bad humor. If the scamp who gave the alarm had been caught he would have been severely punished.

Serious Accident.—Isaac McCallow, an employé at the Westmoreland Coal Works, Spring Hill, while riding on a coal train lost his balance and was thrown between the bumpers, receiving very severe and probably fatal injuries. He was conveyed to his residence and medical aid summoned. It is feared that he is injured internally.

Ominous Threat.—Mary E. Griffiths alleges that Kate Tull says she will be the death of her yet. Mary fears that this prophecy may be realized unless measures are taken at once to thwart it. She therefore made information before Alderman McMasters against Kate for surety of the peace. Kate was arrested and committed for trial.

Man Drowned.—About eight o'clock Saturday evening Michael Murray, while engaged in "coaling" a tow boat at the foot of Ferry street, in the Monongahela river, missed his footing, fell overboard and was drowned. Search was made for the body immediately after the accident occurred, but at a late hour last night it had not been recovered. The deceased was a single man, about twenty-five years of age, and boarded at No. 12 Penn street.

Beautiful Wax-Work.—We advise our lady readers to call and examine s me rich specimens of wax work at the Pittsburgh Female College. The samples of fruit, flowers, autumn leaves, harps, crosses and pond lillies are the most beautiful we have ever seen. A class will be organized tomorrow (Tuesday) afternoon at 3 o'clock for the benefit of ladies not connected with the college. But few hours are needed to learn, and much may be done by a little outlay to beautify and adorn your houses. Go by all means and see the specimens.

A Flying Board.—On Saturday morning during the storm a board from the upper scaffolding of the Cathedral tower was caught up by the wind and sent flying through the air. After performing several gyrations and evolutions at a lofty elevation it rapidly descended alighting on the roof of Devore's undertaking establishment on the opposite side of the street, going through the roof to the flour in the second story, making a hole about four feet in length in its passage through. Fortunately no person was in the room at the time and no injury was done beyond that to the building.

Drowned.—On Friday afternoon three boys were in a skiff above Dam No. 1, on the Monongahela river, when by some accident the boat was carried by the strong current over the dam, capsizing and precipitating the boys into the foaming waters. One of them, named David Ritchie, was struck on the head by the boat in its descent and sank immediately. The other two managed to take hold of the boat as it was floating off and thus saved themselves from a watery grave. The boys resided in Brownstown, and the deceased was employed in one of the glass factories the e. At last accounts the body had not been recovered.

"All's Well That Ends Well."

Much solicitude has been felt by the families and friends of Mr. Walter McClintock, carpet merchant, and Wm. McIntosh, jeweler, of this city, by reason of their prolonged detention on an island in Lake Superior, whither they had gone for health and recreation. It appears that the steamer that left them on the lonely island and had engaged to call for them on her return trip, but was prevented for two weeks by necessary repairs from returning. This unexpected and unexplained delay naturally caused some anxiety among the friends of the missing gentlemen, which was relieved on Saturday by a dispatch announcing their safety and intention to reach home to-day.

Stolen Property Recovered.

About two weeks ago Miss Norton, a resident of Pittsburgh, while stopping at the St. Charles Hotel, in Greenville, Crawford county, Pennsylvania, had her room entered and a valuable shawl carried off. No trace of the sneak thief could be discovered and the lady had almost forgotten the circumstance. She returned to the city a few days ago, and on Saturday was sitting at the window of her room in the St. James Hotel, near the Union Depot, when she noticed a woman passing along with the shawl on her arm. She immediately started in pursuit, and overtaking the woman in the ladies' waiting room of the depot recovered her property, the thief making no resistance. While the lady was in conversation with the officer in regard to the affair the woman from whom the shawl was recovered slipped away and was seen no more. No particular search was made for her as Miss Norton was satisfied with the recovery of the shawl and desired no further trouble about the matter.

THE DEATH SENTENCE.

The Lane Wife-Poisoning Case—Motion for New Trial Overruled—The Prisoner Sentenced to be Hanged.

Saturday about noon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, Judges Sterrett and Stowe on the bench, the case of Louis Lane, colored, convicted of murder in the first degree, in causing the death of his wife by administering poison, was called, the Court being prepared to decide upon the motion for a new trial. The case was tried at the June term, and final judgment deferred until the present. The prisoner had been brought into Court, and the room was well filled with members of the bar and spectators.

The accused, it will be remembered, was defended by W. T. Haines and J. C. McCarthy, Esqs., having been assigned by the Court as counsel, and the compliment paid them by the Court in the remarks given below is well deserved. On Mr. Haines, as the senior counsel, devolved the conduct of the case, and in discharging the high and responsible duty reflected the highest credit upon himself.

The following is the OPINION OF THE COURT.

In the charge to the jury in this case we instructed them that under the evidence they could not render a verdict of anything but murder in the first degree, if they were satisfied that the prisoner killed his wife by means of poison, feloniously and maliciously administered to her; that if poison was intentionally and maliciously given by the prisoner and caused death, that, without more, made it their duty to find a verdict of murder of the first degree, and that they had no right to return a verdict of murder in the second degree. In other words, we directed the jury that if they believed from the evidence that the defendant murdered his wife by means of poison, the statute declared it to be of the first degree, and they could not make it less. This was the prevailing idea throughout the charge, and is emphatically expressed by the part excepted to by prisoner's attorneys, viz: "The life or death of this man is in your hands. There is no middle course, if he is guilty of murder; he must be convicted of murder of the first degree or acquitted of everything. If your verdict is guilty of murder you must state of the first degree. If not guilty you say so and no more."

This instruction is alleged to be error, and is assigned as reason for a new trial. The question now is, was it erroneous or not?

We certainly entertained the opinion, at the time the jury was charged, (as we still do,) that under all circumstances and in every case murder by poison under our statute was of the first degree, and it was in view of this opinion that the remarks complained of were made to the jury. But even if this opinion was not strictly correct in its fullest application, yet if the remarks made in their application to the law, as bearing upon the facts in evidence, were in accordance with the law arising thereon, no injustice has been done the prisoner, and the verdict should be sustained.

Then two questions arise:

First. Were the instructions given correct as a universal rule of law, under the statute?

And if not,

Second. Were they proper under the evidence in this case as a rule for the guidance of the jury?

As to the first question—whether "murder by poison" is always murder of the first degree—it is hard for me to conceive how any body can take up the statute of 1794 and come to any other conclusion, unless a more subtle and refined distinction is drawn than is justified by the obvious intention of the Legislature.

The act of 1794 reads thus: "Whereas, the several offences which are included under the general denomination of murder differ so greatly from each other in the degree of atrociousness, that it is unjust to involve them in the same punishment, all murder which shall be perpetrated by means of poison, or lying in wait, or by any other kind of willful, deliberate and premeditated killing, or which shall be committed in the perpetration or attempt to perpetrate any arson, rape, robbery or burglary, shall be deemed murder of the first degree, and all other kinds of murder shall be deemed murder of the second degree, and the jury before whom any person indicted for murder shall be tried shall, if they find the said person guilty thereof, ascertain in their verdict whether it be murder of the first or second degree."

It is well settled that this statute does not in the least alter the law of murder. What was murder before its passage, is murder now. It is still "the killing of a person under the peace of the State, with malice aforethought either express or implied." Malice is the distinguishing feature of the crime. No new offense is created. Murder as it existed was merely divided into two classes in reference to the punishment to be inflicted under the law for its commission.

First, All murder by poison, lying in wait, or other willful, deliberate and premeditated killing, or which is committed in perpetrating or attempt to perpetrate the several felonies mentioned, constitute one class, punishable with death, and termed of the first degree.

Second, All other kinds or murder constitute another class, and termed of the second degree.

The killing of a person with malice aforethought, by means of poison, is murder in the first degree, and can be nothing else. What then constitutes killing with malice aforethought, or malicious killing? Says Russell on Crimes, 483: "Not such killing only as proceeds from premeditated hatred against the person killed, but also such killing as is accompanied with circumstances showing the heart to be perversely wicked, is adjudged to be of malice prepense, and murder. When the act which occasioned death is committed deliberately, and is likely to be attended with dangerous consequences, the malice requisite to murder will be presumed, for the law infers that the natural or probable effect of any act deliberately done is intended by its action." (Wharton on homicide, page thirty-four, and cases cited.) From the days of Lord Hale till the present time, the willful administration of poison from which death ensues, has been held to be murder. Thus it follows, that the willful giving of poison where death ensues, being still what it was before the statute—murder—it is now under the statute the same, and punishable with death.

In Commonwealth vs. Keeper of Prison, 2 Ashmead, 227, Judge King expresses an opinion on the statute at variance with the preceding, and says that "murder by poison and lying in wait, are given as instances of willful, deliberate and premeditated killing, but not as cases which under all circumstances are such." It is apparent that the learned Judge has confounded the term murders with killing, and means that unlawful killing by poison is not always murder of the first degree. In this he is clearly right, because there may be, and often is, killing by poison which is criminal, and yet not murder at all, but simply manslaughter, and such is the case he pu s ly way of illustration. In the Supreme Court of Connecticut a doubt has also been expressed as to the correctness of the conclusion we have arrived at, and also by Judge Woodward in 12 Wright 396, Rhodes vs. Commonwealth. In neither, however, is a positive opinion expressed. On the contrary, the view we have taken is sustained by Justice Daniel, Commonwealth vs. Jones, 1 Leigh, 610: "Posion," says he "may reach the life of one or more not within the design of him who lays the bait; lying in wait may be with a view of great injury, abuse and bodily harm without the settled purpose to kill. In these cases the legislature has declared that the perpetrator shall be held guilty of murder in the first degree, without further proof that the death was the ultimate result which the will, deliberation and premeditation of the party accused sought. Also, by the Supreme Court of Tennessee, 4 Humphries, 136. After reciting the statute in force there, precisely similar to ours so far as this case is concerned, the court say: "In cases of murder by poison or lying in wait, the most atrocious and detestable of all kinds of homicide, and the least to be guarded against, either by resistance or forethought, the crime is made to depend upon the 'means causing death.' So in respect to cases of murder committed in the perpetration of or attempt to perpetrate arson, rape, robbery and burglary. In all these cases, the mode or 'means' of destroying life supplies a conclusive legal presumption of malice and guilty intention; the crime, as well as the guilt of the agent, is made to depend alone upon the fact of taking life in either of the specified modes."

Chief Justice Hornblower, of New Jersey, referring to the act of that State, which is the same as ours, says:

"Independent, however, of the common law presumption of malice, all will agree that killing by poison, lying in wait, or by willful, deliberate and premeditated design, is proof of express malice. Again, if a man in the act of perpetrating or attempting to perpetrate the offence specified in the statute kill another, this is evidence of express malice. In all these cases, then, the killing is Murder of the First Degree."

The same view appears to be also held by the Supreme Court of Kansas and Texas in late cases cited in the United States District Court for 1864—Sec. 23 Cal. 17—of Kansas 365.

But most conclusive of all, because binding upon us until reversed, is the case of Com. vs. Earl, 1. Wharton 531. There the Court specifically decide and give as a reason for refusing the allocution asked for, that all murder perpetrated by means of poison is equally of the first degree, saying, as in case of murder by poisoning the poisoner is guilty, if at all, of murder in the first degree, and as a verdict of guilty in another degree would not be received, the law will not require, though it might endure the performance of an act so nugatory as an attempt at classification where there is no difference, or the making by verdict of a measure of guilt pre-established by the law itself.

If the conclusion arrived at in that case was right, it was only upon the ground stated by the Court that murder by poison under the statute is of the first degree and can be nothing else.

But we think we might go a step further, and even admit that this broad view of the statute is incorrect, and still sustain our charge under the evidence in this case.

The jury were told substantially that under the evidence in this case, if they found the prisoner had intentionally and maliciously given arsenic to his wife, and she died from the effects of the poison so administered, the law made it their duty to return a verdict of guilty of murder of the first degree. There was no allegation, and if there had been, there was not the least evidence that the poison was not intended to kill, and certainly it will not be pretended that the deliberate administration of arsenic in quantity, which must necessarily produce death, by one aware of its effects, does not in the absence of evidence to the contrary, create the legal conclusion of intent to kill. If such is the case, then we were right, and it was our duty to tell the jury that they could not under the law and evidence in the case, render a verdict of murder in the second degree.

This is only applying to a deadly poison, the same rule well settled in the cases of deadly weapons, and upon this ground alone we think all we said to the jury might well be sustained in view of the evidence in the case.

The motion for a new trial is overruled. The reasons for arrest of judgment have also been considered. We do not think cause is shown to arrest judgment and they are therefore overruled.

When Judge Stowe had concluded, Judge Sterritt made a few remarks, during which he stated he fully concurred in the opinions of his brother Stowe.

THE PRISONER SENTENCED.

The prisoner was then directed to stand up, when Judge Stowe asked: "Louis Lane, have you anything to say why sentence of death should not be imposed upon you according to law?"

Prisoner—"I am not guilty of the charge."

Judge Stowe—"Have you anything further to say?"

Prisoner—"Nothing."

Judge Stowe then said: "Louis Lane, you have been tried and convicted of the murder of your wife Henrietta, by poison. What motive led you to do the deed is not apparent from the testimony, but it is clear that you did it. The jury could not, in the discharge of their duty, have rendered any other verdict than they did under the evidence in the case. Your counsel, who, at the request of the Court undertook your defence, has done all that could be done in your behalf, without fee or reward. He has most earnestly and ably presented to your triers, all such facts and suggestions as would tend to raise a doubt as to your guilt. More could not have been done, if he had been amply paid for his services. But all in vain! The web of circumstances which the testimony threw around you, was too strong and too close, and there was no escape. Facts, established by the most satisfactory evidence, pointed with unerring certainty to your guilt. Even the terrible idea that your life must pay the penalty could not raise a doubt, nor stay the inevitable conclusion. And for this horrid deed you must die. We leave to others the duty of indicating the means of preparing you to meet your doom. But we most earnestly ask you immediately to call to your assistance such persons as may be able and willing, by their counsel and advice, to instruct you how to prepare to meet your God. And now nothing further remains with us, except to pronounce upon you the sentence prescribed by the law for the crime of which you stand convicted.

Louis Lane, the sentence of the law is that you be taken hence to the jail of Allegheny county, the place whence you came, and from thence to the place of execution, and that there you may be hanged by the neck till you are dead, and may Almighty God have mercy on your soul.

Judge Stowe, in pronouncing the dread sentence of the law, was visibly affected. The prisoner did not manifest the slightest sign of emotion, maintaining his composure to the end. His demeanor, however, was respectful, and could not be regarded as indifferent. We understand an effort will be made to have the case reviewed by the Supreme Court.

The Calhoun Homicide—Probable Explanation of the Mystery.

The mystery connected with the shooting of R. C. Calhoun, at Etna, Thursday evening, the 8th inst, an account of which we published, appears to have been solved. On Saturday Coroner Clawson obtained information which led him to believe that Ephraim Kent, constable of Penn township, had fired the fatal shot. He accordingly arrested Kent and brought him to the city when he was confined in the lock-up, where he will remain until the matter has been fully investigated. Kent states that he was in Etna on the evening Calhoun was shot, and about nine o'clock, while he was standing in front of the tavern, a party, among whom was Calhoun, drove up and were acting in a very disorderly manner, when he remonstrated with them and told them that he was an officer of the law. One of the party then advanced towards him, with a pistol in his hand, and struck him a severe blow on the head, knocking him down. Kent then drew his revolver, and, as he a leges, pointed the muzzle to the ground and fired. He then ran to the tavern and endeavored to gain admittance, but being refused, started to walk home. While on the way a heavy rain came on, and he took refuge under a tree, where he slept until morning. He denies having shot Calhoun, but the residents of the vicinity state that only one shot was fired. Charles Murphy, who is also charged with the murder, is in jail. The Coroner's inquest will reassemble to-day, when additional facts may be elicited.

GRANT HUSSARS.

Large and Enthusiastic Meeting—The Organization on a War Basis—Report of Recruits Obtained.

As a political auxiliary to the Republican party during the present campaign, there has been organized in this city a regiment of Grant Hussars, under the command of Gen. William Blakely. On Saturday night a large meeting of the members was held at City Hall, for the purpose of completing the organization. The report from the Finance Committee evinced creditable exertions measurably well rewarded. The meeting unanimously elected Col. T. K. McClong as Vice President. The report from the committee on enlistment developed the fact that some five hundred names had already been secured to the rolls. Major Foley, of Birmingham, an officer with a bright record won during the war, is recruiting with great success on the south side. Capt. W. R. Stokes reported that he had transferred his command of artillery to Maj. Joseph M. Knap, believing that he was more worthy the honor, having rendered much valiant service in the Union army. This course of Maj. Stokes was highly commended, and the acceptance of Maj. Knap was received with applause. Maj. Stokes, and Lieuts Logan, Dunseath and Hunzeker were appointed a committee to wait upon and invite the coöperation of the butchers and draymen, who are to hold a meeting to-morrow evening for the purpose of organizing auxiliaries to the Hussars.

The order for the uniforms and accoutrements of the first battallion has been forwarded East, and a return is expected tomorrow. By order of Gen. Blakely the following regulations have been promulgated:

The companies will be organized and drilled in the single rank formation of "Cook's Cavalry Tactics," and will be instructed in the following evolutions, viz: To march from line of battle by twos, fours and platoons, also to form the command front, left, or on right into line. When fifty members have subscribed the constitution and by-laws, the recruiting officer shall call a meeting and the members present shall then elect their officers. The commanding officer shall immediately report to the headquarters for further instructions, and furnish a roll of his command. Commissioned officers, uniform dress coat, cap and pants; non-commissioned officers and privates, bronze cap and belts, cavalry blouse, (worn inside of pants,) and dark pants, Wide Awake torch will be carried on all night parades. Artillery—Regulation dress, or such dress as the commander of artillery may direct.

The first drill will take place to-morrow evening and first parade on the night following. The company to form on the Allegheny Commons at the Second ward School House. Co "A," recruited by Messrs. McFarren, Johnston and Logan meet to-night for organization at No. 111 Water street, above Wood, where those wishing to join can do so.

The following named gentlemen are authorized to raise companies for the Presidential campaign:

Maj. S. Foley, Birmingham and south of Monongahela.
Capt. J. S. Schoonmaker, 14th Pa. Cav., Allegheny.
W. S. Taylor, 14th Pa. Cav., Allegheny.
Lieut. L. Gross, 14th Pa. Cav., Allegheny.
Lieut. E. R. Jones, South Pittsburgh.
Lieut. S. J. M'Farren, 3d Pa. Cav., Pittsburgh.
J. B. Johnson, 14th Pa. Cav.
Maj. Jos. M. Knap, Artillery.
Maj. W. R. Stokes, Artillery.

All clubs of Allegheny county are cordially invited to join and participate in the parade of the 23d and 24th.

Companies organizing can elect their own officers and receive instructions from the commanding officer of the Huzzars, Col. W. Blakely, No. 91 Grant street, or the Secretary, S. J. M'Farren, No 111 Water street.

A Brave Husband—Generous Request.

In the Quarter Sessions on Saturday Mrs. Clara Ellis, a delicate Welsh woman, serving as a "help" on Third avenue, between Wood and Market streets, appeared as complainant against her husband, William Ellis, asking that he be held in bonds to keep the peace towards her. She told her story. They had been living apart for six or seven months. The wife, unable longer to endure the harsh treatment of her husband, went among strangers for protection and hired as a "help," in order to secure support. The husband, a stout, able bodied man, a rolling mill hand, went to the old country, Wales, returning a few weeks since. He called frequently at his wife's place of employment since his return, annoying her very much, and among other things accused her of unfaithfulness to her marriage vows. His purse was sufficiently plethoric to enable him to make a visit to his native land, while his wife was "at service," and it would be natural to suppose that after his return he would have given himself no concern about her, as his conduct indicated carelessness as to her fate or condition. But not so. He must annoy her still further. What his design was may be inferred from his acts. On Sunday evening week he visited her, was violent in his manner, and accused her of "street walking," mentioning the names of men who represented (he said) they had been with her. She denied the imputation, and at once volunteered to go with him and "face" the men. The time was about nine o'clock. They proceeded to the Point, the men referred to by the husband residing on the south side of the river. The ferry boat had gone. A man with a skiff hailed the wife, asking her if she desired to cross the river. The husband answered, and assuming that the ferryman had insulted his wife, used rough language. He then gave up his intention of going to the south side, if, indeed, he had designed in the beginning so doing. He drew a pistol, his wife screamed, begged for mercy, and caught his arm. He then struck her and she fell at his feet. Her screams having attracted attention, the husband fled and escaped for the time in the darkness. The wife told the Court she believed it was her husband's design to kill her; he had threatened to do so previously, and she feared still that he would do so. It having been represented that she had consented to settle the case, she was asked how it was. She said she had; that she was told it would be best for her to do so. Counsel for defense offered no evidence, nor made even an attempt to contradict the statement of the wife, but asked the Court to do a most generous thing, viz: To require the husband simply to pay the costs, leave the county, and promise not to anoy his wife in the future.

Judge Sterrett saw the case in its proper light. He required Ellis to pay the costs and to give bonds in the sum of $1,500 to keep the peace towards his wife for the period of two years.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—The engagement of Mr. Edwin Booth, which closed at the Opera House Saturday evening, was the most brilliant and doubtless the most profitable to the manager since Ristori's first visit. This evening Miss Nellie Germon and Mr. Robert Johnson make their first appearance in this city, when will be presented a new drama entitled "Little Polly." Miss Germon enjoys a high reputation for one so young in her profession, and will doubtless draw crowded houses during her engagement here.

LOGRENIA.—Masonic Hall has been the scene of an abundance of fun and amusement during the past week, during which time the unapproachable conjurer, Logrenia, has been performing to full houses every evening. His entertainments will continue throughout the present week, and each evening one hundred useful and valuable gifts will be distributed to the audience.

Arrests Without Information or Warrant.

Jacob H. Miller, Esq., in the Quarter Sessions, on Saturday, moved for the discharge from prison of William Walsh, Thomas Bedell, Joseph Scott, Stephen Beech and Joseph Butterfield, upon facts set forth in an affidavit of one of the prisoners, in substance: On the 11th inst., while in the Old Pittsburgh Theatre, in the discharge of their own proper duties, and not engaged, so far as they were aware, in anything unlawful, they were arrested by Matthew Keep, constable, without a warrant and without any previous information having been made against them; were were taken by said constable before Alderman Humbert, and whilst there the magistrate inserted their names in a warrant which had been issued for another party, and upon such a warrant they were committed to jail, having waived a hearing.

These facts were not controverted. It seems a warrant had been issued for another person, "and others," charged with forcible entry and detainer, on the information of Gen. Hoffman, administrator of the Simpson estate, to which the old Theatre belongs. The constable proceeded to the Theater to make the arrest, and was at first denied admittance, but finally permitted to enter, when he arrested all on the premises. It not appearing clearly at what point of time the names of the prisoners were inserted in the warrant, and Alderman Humbert being present in court, he was asked as to the fact. He was about to make a full statement of the case, but this was not desired—the court simply wanted to know as to the insertion of the names of the persons now asking to be discharged. The Alderman stated that after the parties had been brought before him he inserted their names, first in the information, and then in the warrant.

Judge Stowe remarked that the case was similar to one which not long since transpired at Wilkinsburg, where a party had been arrested and the warrant issued on the day following.

Alderman Humbert disclaimed any intention of acting in any other way than he thought was proper in the case.

The Court said that so far as he was personally concerned, there was no imputation against him; but the arrests were improper, no information having been made or proper warrant issued.

Mr. Miller's motion was, therefore, allowed, and the prisoners permitted to go their way.

Shooting Affray.

About ten o'clock last night a villainous and malicious attempt was made upon the life of Joseph Sabita, a peaceable citizen of the Ninth ward, by John Kesler, which may yet prove fatal. Mr. Sabita was sitting on a dry goods box on the sidewalk in front of 410 Penn street talking with some friends, when Kesler came up and without the slightest cause or provocation struck him in the face with his open hand. Sabita thought it was done in jest and paid no attention to the matter, further than to ask him not to strike so hard. Kesler replied saying, "D— you, you called me a s—of a b—," and putting his hand in his pocket, drew a revolver and fired, and then ran. The shot took effect in the face of Sabita.

The wounded man was carried into his house, which was near by, and Drs. Kearns, Ahl and others called in who examined the wound. The ball entered over the inside corner of the right eye and penetrated to a considerable depth, keeping below the base of the brain. The physicians think that the wound is not necessarily fatal, but were unable to say positively, as they had not found the ball when our reporter left.

Mayor Blackmore was sent for and took Sabita's deposition at the request of his friends. Kesler had not been seen after the occurrence, but the officers all know him and he will probably be arrested this morning.

A Daring Scoundrel.

At an early hour on Saturday morning the residence of Mr. Kannel, on Ninth street, was entered by a daring thief who evidently is practiced in the trade. An entrance was effected by forcing open the cellar door in the rear of the house, and by this means gaining access to the cellar. From there the chap proceeded up the stairs to the first floor, and from there into the sleeping apartment occupied by Mr. Kannel and his wife. A light was dimly burning in the room, by the aid of which the fellow ransacked the room thoroughly, opening the drawers of the bureau and scattering their contents around, but securing nothing of valne in them. He next turned his attention to Mr. Kannel's pantaloons and was rewarded by obtaining about nine dollars in cash and a silver watch worth about forty dollars, with which he decamped. The whole operation was carried on so stealthily that none of the family were aroused and nothing was known of the occurrence until they arose and an investigation revealed the robbery. There is no clue to the thief, and it is altogether likely that one who could plan and execute such a daring burglary will know how to keep away from the officers.

New Firm in an Old House.

By announcement elsewhere it will be noticed that the popular and first-class uptown watch, clock and jewelry store of W. T. Wylie, No. 6 Wylie street, has been purchased with entire stock by Messrs. Biggs & Hoyle, who will continue the business. Mr. Geo. W. Biggs has had large business experience in the leading jewelry houses of the city, and thoroughly understands every department of the trade. His partner, Mr. Hoyle, is a practical and finished watch-maker, who has long sustained a high reputation in that branch of art in this city, having held position in the most reliable watch and jewelry houses. We wish the new firm the large success they so eminently merit.

A Melon-choly Affair.

Ed. McGann and Thomas Devine have become involved in a melon choly affair. A. B. Briswold made information before the Mayor on Saturday evening, charging Edward and Thomas with the larceny of one hundred and seventy-five melons. He alleges that he shipped the melons to this city on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway, and that they arrived on Saturday evening at the depot of the Adams Express company, corner of Grant and Seventh streets, where the accused broke open the car and took therefrom the melons, which they afterwards disposed of. Warrants were issued for their arrest.

Indictment Quashed.

In our report of the Quarter Sessions Court of Friday we noted the fact of R. S. Morrison, Esq, moving to quash the indictment against Thomas Tiger and James Parker for robbery, upon the ground, mainly, that it was drawn "in the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of the Peace," that is to say, in two Courts, whereas only the Oyer and Terminer had jurisdiction. The motion was further argued on Saturday by Mr. Morrison, who cited authorities sustaining his position. The Court allowed the motion, quashing the indictment.

GEO. BEAVEN.

Allegheny City Academy.

The Allegheny City Academy, the well known and popular home institution, has opened for the fall and winter term at No. 101 Federal street, over the Allegheny Savings Bank. During the summer vacation the school rooms have been thoroughly renovated and a number of additions made to the school furniture and apparatus, so that it will now compare favorably with any institution of its kind in Western Pennsylvania. Particular attention is paid to those studies pertaining to a commercial education, and in this respect the school heretofore has met with remarkable success. The languages and sciences also form an important part of the course of study, the instruction in these branches being complete and thorough. Of the principals, Professors Pryor and Robb, it is needless for us to say anything, further than that all their experience, extending through a number of years, will be brought into requisition to make the institution that which it claims to be, a first-class academy. They can be consulted in regard to terms, and the course of study at any time during the day, and we advise all persons wishing a thorough education to call upon them.

A CHALLENGE.

One Hundred Sewing Machines to be Given Away to the Poor.

Whereas, a certain advertisement appeared in the Sunday Leader of the 6th inst., classically and pertinently entitled, "Who Killed Cock Robin," signed "Carson Bros.," and charging R. H. Long with being the author of an affidavit published by Miss Agnes A. Watson, "puffing the Weed Machine," as they assume; and, whereas, this is the second time such assertion has appeared over their signature, now this witnesseth that I, R. H. Long, will forfeit one hundred new Weed Sewing Machines, to be distributed by lot gratuitously among the poor sewing women of this city, if the Carson Bros. will establish their assertion, or show that I am implicated, by suggestion, dictation, or knowledge, of such affidavit previous to its origin—they to forfeit or pay for one fifth of the above number in case of failure, to be applied to the same charitable purpose. If you mean business, gentlemen, bring on your evidence. If you cannot establish what you say, let the knowledge of it go forth to the world. Meanwhile, the Weed Sewing Machine will be exhibited at 112 Grant street.

R. H. LONG.
